"Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao". The daughter of this country is treated equally. The message that I want to convey with this addition and will be practicing it," said Anurag, the father of the daughters. "I urge the people of all communities to respect their tradition and respect to our elders," he added.

to, they could not answer me," the leader said at a conference in Indore.

Vijayvargiya also said that he spoke to their supervisor and the building contractor, which strengthened his suspicion of these workers being from Bangladesh. "You will be shocked to know that for more than one year, one Bangladeshi terrorist was working right in front of me. People from other countries are coming here and are trying to create a terror environment.

awareness about segregation and handling of waste inspire so many that I'd be called a Man of Change. I was honored for this great achievement. I added Dr Gupta. Anurag's initiative Swachh Bharat has once again brought him to the limelight. He made headlines when he collected garbage in his DC sports car worth several lakhs of rupees.

He attached a garbage trolley with ropes to his posh yellow car and collected waste from the local people and spread awareness about waste segregation. He has won several other awards for his unique campaign including the Madhya Pradesh Ratan Award and Madhya Pradesh Gaurav Award both of which he received from the Chief Minister of Madhya Pradesh.
